

Primary Source Seminar Session

The goal Primary Source Seminar is to expose young people to the primary documents that bring history to life, and to share perspectives on preservation, museum practices, and the public history profession. Our archival tutorial sessions provide students the unique opportunity to work with authentic, unedited eighteenth- and nineteenth-century manuscripts from our own Lloyd W. Smith Collection.

Consider incorporating a Primary Source Seminar session into your next visit.

Morristown is a proud supporter of teacher-led place-based education. The place-based-learning (PBL) model gives students the benefit of customized lessons that connect back to the classroom and accommodate their specific needs, and allows teachers to utilize park resources as they see appropriate.

Please visit our seminar blog for information about our Mini Lessons, Traveling Museum boxes, Teacher Reference Shelf, and other classroom resources:

www.primarysourceseminar.blogspot.com

Planning Guides

Seminar sessions are by appointment only and are held during designated education hours: ### Please plan for at least 30 minutes per student group. The research room can accommodate up to fifteen (15) students at one time.

<link to> Lesson Planning Worksheet

<link to> Field Trip Guide

<link to> Chaperon Guide

Contact

For more details on planning or scheduling a session, contact Sarah Minegar.

<email link>

973539-2016 x 215